Small Boy + New Suit = Easter

YOUNG PETEY NOBLE gives his new Easter suit a test run in a Circleville store as he prepares for Sunday's services. ## Circleville To Bow Head In Celebration Of Easter

Just as a small boy dons a new suit and feels good and proud because of it, so the citizens of Circleville feel good and proud when they partake of the celebration of Easter.

A new life, a re-birth, a re-dedication to serve our fellow men is the theme of tomorrow's holiday.

Joyous Easter! It should be a happy time.

Our churches will be full as at no other time during the year. From the rise of the sun until nightfall, deeply religious ceremonies will be taking place.

Some will go to church for the sermon, some for the music and some to show off new Spring clothing. Regardless of the reason it will be nigh impossible to come away untouched by the story of Easter.

Express Drivers To Strike Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Teamsters Union says Railway Express Agency drivers in several major shipping centers have been authorized to strike at midnight Sunday.

Union headquarters here said the walkout would affect some 2,000 members in Cleveland, Cincinnati and elsewhere. But Teamster sources in St. Louis said that a total of 4,000 Teamsters members would be involved.

The National Railway Mediation Board said legal procedures have been exhausted in the case and the Teamsters are free to strike at midnight Sunday when a 30-day "cooloff" expires.

200 Kiddies Participate In Egg Hunt

Two hundred small fry "cleaned" Ted Lewis Park is short order this morning. They picked up 1,100 Easter eggs, placed in the park by the Circleville Kiwanis Club, in just a little more than 30 minutes.

Starting at 9 a. m., the youngsters scattered throughout the park area, boys and girls from the toddler stage to 11 or 12 years old.

Finders of lucky eggs received cash and merchandise prizes donated by local merchants.

The Kiwanis Boys and Girls Committee, assisted by the Kiwanis-Annes, prepared the colored Easter eggs. The program was under the direction of J. I. Smith, III, with Elliott Barnhill, Robert Clark, Robert Steele, Gene Barthelmas, Stanley Spring and Romaine Wilson assisting.

Both Easter Bunny, Santa Due Sunday

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—When he hops into a suburban Media home today, the Easter bunny will meet a stranger—Santa Claus.

Santa and the bunny are getting together to welcome 9-year-old Vera Lee Zurzolo home from Children's Heart Hospital here where she was taken June 29, 1956, seriously ill with rheumatic fever.

Now Vera Lee's heart has healed and her parents have set the stage for the "real" Christmas they promised her. There is a Christmas tree and a pile of gifts. And in the dining room is a big Easter basket with candies and decorated eggs.

U.S. Officials Promise Study Of Soviet Plan

Mideast Proposal Calls For 4-Power Action In Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials promised a careful study today of Russia's latest proposals for dealing with the Middle East situation. But they apparently saw little prospect of American agreement.

The Soviet government sent a new note to Washington Friday, reportedly reasserting its call for joint four-power action to neutralize the whole strategic region by abolishing military alliances such as the Baghdad Pact, evacuating military bases, and cutting off arms supplies.

The United States rejected in March a Russian proposal for a joint declaration along those lines. Authorities said today the new Soviet message represented another bid for a stronger role for Russia in Middle East affairs.

Britain and France, which joined this country in the earlier rejection of Soviet Middle East proposals, also received new notes Friday.

There were these other developments in the Middle East:

1. The State Department disclosed it had reported to Congress that eight Middle Eastern countries, including the four members of the Baghdad Pact, have lined up with President Eisenhower's program for protecting the area against Soviet Communist pressures.

2. OFFICIALS here speculated that negotiations with Egyptian President Nasser, aimed at modifying his proposed plan for operating the Suez Canal, are nearing an end and probably will lead to a report to the UN Security Council by the middle of next week.

In this connection, informants said Nasser had not substantially modified his plan so far on any key points, although he was reported to have made some revisions.

The State Department sent congressional committees what was

Mayflower II Awaits Fresh Wind for Voyage to U. S.

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—The little wooden ship Mayflower II bobbled in Plymouth Harbor today awaiting a fresh wind to begin a Pilgrim-patterned voyage to the new world.

"We'll be off the moment conditions give the sails half a chance," said Cmdr. Alan Villiers, the Australian skipper. "Old sea captains didn't set a definite hour for sailing, and I'm not going to."

Dawn today found the weather clear in Plymouth with a fair breeze. Friday, with the wind about zero, Villiers described the weather as "too damned perfect."

"What we need," he said, "is some wind. Not a hurricane but a fresh easterly blow."

Whatever happens, the 20th century pilgrims aboard the new Mayflower said goodbye today to this old town where the Pilgrim fathers set sail in 1620 on their 65-day voyage to Plymouth, Mass.

Upon arrival in the New World, Mayflower II will be presented to the people of Plymouth, Mass., as a gift from the English people.

A little splinter of granite chiseled from the Plymouth Rock of Massachusetts was to be sent to Villiers at a farewell ceremony—the idea being that the bit of stone wants to get back to its proper place and that it will lead Mayflower II across the sea to Plymouth Rock.

The 32 men in the modern Mayflower hope to make the crossing in about six weeks.

The ship is an almost exact replica of the first Mayflower; 90 feet long, 26 feet wide and with 80-foot masts.

There are a few concessions to comfort, but the modern Pilgrims are traveling as their forefathers did, with sail only—no mechanical power.

The Mayflower II has a modern radio in event of trouble.

She was in a bit of trouble here Friday. The seas were so calm that in making the trip from the construction yard to Plymouth harbor, she had to have the assistance of a motor tug to make it to dockside.

And crewmen discovered one flaw—she was taking water through the hawser holes accommodating her anchor chains. But that is being corrected.

Otherwise she is considered as seaworthy as her original namesake. She has ballast in shape and stores in place. She even has an extra set of sails should the Atlantic prove to be too unruly during the crossing.

Old Jerusalem Sees Ritual At Sepulchre

Millions To Throng Churches To Pray For Prince Of Peace

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Christians throughout the world celebrate Sunday, the joyous holiday of Easter, commemorating the resurrection of Christ.

Millions of worshippers will throng churches in cities, towns and villages to pray in the name of the Prince of Peace.

In old Jerusalem, Easter already has been celebrated.

Flames burst from the tomb of Christ as the age-old ritual of the holy fire, dramatizing the Savior's resurrection, was re-enacted today.

Easter pilgrims, most of them members of Eastern rite churches, shouted: "He is risen."

Many lighted tallow candles or oil lamps from the flames.

Thousands of pilgrims packed the Church of the Holy Sepulchre which watches over the tomb for the Holy Saturday services.

TO THE CHRISTIANS, the emergence of the holy fire came as a shaft of light in a dark world.

Cypriots who have participated in rebellion, Ethiopians who live in a Christian island in an otherwise pagan or Moslem continent and Armenians whose country is now part of the Soviet Union struggled to light their tiny candles from the sacred fire.

At midmorning the Holy Sepulchre was opened and Orthodox and Armenian clergy entered.

Within seconds, flames from the tomb swept from candle to candle to lap across the heads of the crowd of pilgrims in the church.

For the Christians the holy fire service climaxed Holy Week.

In Rome, Pope Pius XII will give his annual Easter message to the world. For the first time the pontiff's message will be televised for Europe. Also, it will be

Ike, Humphrey Taking It Easy

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey gave federal budget problems something less than top priority today in favor of a restful Easter weekend.

Humphrey and his wife joined the President and Mrs. Eisenhower late Friday at the chief executive's vacation headquarters at the Augusta National Golf Club.

The Humphreys flew here from Washington aboard the President's private plane, Columbine III. They will be the Eisenhowers' guests at "Mamie's Cabin" on the edge of the golf course.

Coloring Books Hit By Expert

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coloring books are nothing but artistic straightjackets for children, says a fine arts professor from Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Viktor Lowenfeld, speaking at the National Art Education Assn. convention Friday, said use of the books thwarts the child's creative instincts and develops a slavish dependence on prescribed outline.

"I regard the coloring book as the No. 1 enemy of creativity in the United States," said Dr. Lowenfeld.

Wheat Quotas To Continue; Benson Cuts Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has proclaimed continuance of federal marketing quotas on wheat in 1958. He also has cut the crop's price support value the equivalent of $198 million.

Growers would be limited, as during the last four years, to the planting of 55 million acres free of penalties under legislation designed to hold down production in times of surpluses. The country has an extra year's supply, most of it in government stocks.

The support rate for the 1958 crop, much of which will be seeded this fall, was set at a minimum of $1.78 a bushel compared with $2 for the 1956 and 1957 crops.

On the basis of a below average harvest of 850 million bushels (roughly the amount to be expected under present farm programs) the crop would have an aggregate support value of about $1.5 billion compared with $1.7 billion at the $2 a bushel rate. Support rates greatly influence market prices.

THIS REDUCTION in the wheat price floor follows lowering of supports this year for corn, cotton, oats, rye, barley, soybeans, sorghum grain and several other less important crops.

To become operative, the marketing quotas must be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum to be held June 30 in 36 designated commercial wheat states.

If growers approve, this will be the fifth consecutive year of quotas, which were approved for this year's crop by 87.4 per cent of the farmers voting.

The 22-cent-a-bushel reduction in the support rate came as a surprise. There had been speculation there would be little change from the current rate. The announced 1958 rate represents 75 per cent of parity, the lowest level allowed under the El-senhower administration's flexible price support system. The law says supports must range between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

This year's rate, representing 80 per cent of parity, set a year ago at $1.86 but later was raised to $2 because, Benson said, the surplus problems was easing.

Should growers reject quotas, the 55-million-acre planting allotments would remain in effect but price supports would be reduced to 45 per cent of parity or about $1.19 a bushel. Compliance with allotments would not be required but only those who did so would be eligible for the $1.19 support.

Non-Farming Moves Grab Land In Ohio

BOWLING GREEN (AP)—Urban and industrial developments have been described to the Ohio Academy of Science meeting here as "giant octopi" reaching out to devour farmland which could be needed for food production.

T. C. Kennard, of Columbus, state conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, gave that description at a meeting of the academy here Friday.

About 1,200 Ohio college and high school science teachers and high school pupils have been attending the session.

Kennard said that over the last 15 years, five per cent of the nation's cropland of about 400 million acres has been lost to private development for industry and housing, to public development of such things as highways and parks and to reforestation projects.

This loss, he said, is equal to enough land for 225,000 average farms.

He said in Ohio almost a million acres has been diverted in the 15-year period from what was once roughly 15½ million acres of arable land. He said Ohio's population has increased from 6,907,612 in 1940 to an estimated 8,554,000 in 1954, while the number of farmers in the state has decreased from 233,783 to 177,074.

He said if trends continue "the importance of soil will take on a new meaning. It will not just be valuable; it will be priceless."

News In Brief Subway Crash Injures 65

NEW YORK (AP)—A city transit official says he feels that "man failure" caused a collision of two subway trains in a Brooklyn tunnel. Sixty-five persons were injured, one seriously.

Thomas J. McLernon, general manager of the transit authority, said after the crash Friday night: "After checking at the scene of the accident, we feel that it was due to man failure."

One train rumbled around a sharp curve and smashed into the rear of a stalled train.

Both trains were en route from Brooklyn to Queens with several hundred passengers when the first train stalled with a jammed brake. Motorman Victor P. O'Brian, 41, of Queens climbed out, released the brake and headed back to the controls of his eight-car train.

He was just entering the cab when the second train struck.

AMMAN (AP)—Gen. Ali Hayari resigned today as Jordan's army chief of staff, informed sources said, and a new government crisis may be brewing.

LONDON (AP)—The cost of living in Britain has gone up 25 per cent in the last six years.

The treasury reported to parliament today that the purchasing power of the pound (sterling) in 1951, had fallen to 14 shillings 11 pence ($2.10) in purchasing power in March 1957.

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi said today he will visit India and Nationalist China before his trip to the United States in June. The visits were seen as a move to boost Kishi's prestige as an Asian leader before his talks with President Eisenhower.

Kishi told the budget committee of the Diet (parliament's) lower house the visits would promote "friendly relations and strengthen economic co-operation."

The date for the visits was not announced.

CAIRO (AP)—Reports reaching Cairo today said 25 persons were drowned when a bus overturned into a canal Friday near Damam. Only eight bodies have been recovered so far. Damam is about 63 miles northwest of Cairo.

Holy Saturday Services Held Over World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Holy Saturday is being observed throughout the Christian world today with special services.

In the early centuries there were no services at all during daylight hours because Jesus' body was resting in the tomb.

Early Christians waited in prayer until they sighted the evening star, signaling the beginning of the Easter vigil.

Then lamps and candles were lighted, transforming the darkness of night and sorrow into bright day and joyful exultation.

To early believers the Easter vigil symbolized a triumph, with Christ, over death and evil. They were especially jubilant because it was generally held in those days that Jesus would return for the last judgment during an Easter vigil.

Those early vigils, concluded probably at the first dawn of Easter Sunday, provided the basic structure of today's Holy Saturday ceremonies.

Prosecutor To Investigate Kidnap Count

City Prosecutor William Ammer said today he planned to notify police in Lubbock, Texas, to investigate the case of the disappearance of Florence Reaugh, the 15-year-old girl, formerly of Circleville, who was found in the Texas city by her mother Mrs. Alverna Ellis this week.

The girl had been missing from her home at 233 1/2 N. Scioto St. along with Samuel "Chic" Collets, 26, a photography salesman, since March 10. A kidnap affidavit sworn by the girl's mother against Collets is on file in Municipal Court.

Prosecutor Ammer said that his office would await a report from the Lubbock authorities before a further decision is made on the case here.

The prosecutor indicated that if the facts justified the kidnapping charge, Collets probably would be brought back to Circleville to stand trial.

Mrs. Ellis who, with her daughter and a 14-year-old son, had hitchhiked to Circleville from Pennsylvania early in March, left the city two weeks ago to search for the missing girl.

described as an "interim report" on the mission of Ambassador James P. Richards to explain to Middle East governments the Eisenhower program.

Richards was due today in Khartoum, capital of the Sudan. It remained uncertain whether he will visit Egypt and Syria.

The report to Congress did not cover Richards' recent talks in Freetown but did cover the results of his visits to Lebanon, Libya, Saudi Arabia, Afghanistan and four Baghdad powers — Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Iraq.

"The results of the mission to date are impressive," said a State Department statement. "The governments covered by the interim report have declared their desire to associate themselves with the President's program for the Middle East."

Russian Bear Grows Out New Warning

MOSCOW — Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev cautioned the West Friday night to keep hands off the Communist world, declaring "we are not saints and if necessary we will rap your knuckles."

Khrushchev gave that warning at a Polish embassy reception. He spoke after Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov said the Moscow-directed Warsaw Pact powers would match any nuclear weapons provided for its NATO allies.

"We want to warn the capitalist countries, do not joke with us," Khrushchev said. "Do not try to test us like you did in Hungary with the putsch. You think of doing it, not only in Hungary, but also maybe in East Germany. Be careful. We are not saints and, if necessary, we will rap your knuckles."

The reception honored Polish Premier Joseph Cyrankiewicz, who stopped off in the Soviet capital en route home from a tour of the Orient.

Zhukov declared Russia would carry out all measures necessary to counteract any action that NATO takes.

"We have at our disposal adequate means to retaliate against any action of NATO," he said.

Prosecutor To Investigate Kidnap Count

City Prosecutor William Ammer said today he planned to notify police in Lubbock, Texas to investigate the case of the disappearance of Florence Reaugh, the 13-year-old girl, formerly of Circleville, who was found in the Texas city by her mother Mrs. Alverna Ellis this week.

The girl had been missing from her home at 233 1/2 N. Scioto St. along with Samuel "Chic" Collets, 26, a photography salesman, since March 10. A kidnap affidavit sworn by the girl's mother against Collets is on file in Municipal Court.

Prosecutor Ammer said that his office would await a report from the Lubbock authorities before a further decision is made on the case here.

The prosecutor indicated that if the facts justified the kidnapping charge, Collets probably would be brought back to Circleville to stand trial.

Mrs. Ellis who, with her daughter and a 14-year-old son, had hitchhiked to Circleville from Pennsylvania early in March, left the city two weeks ago to search for the missing girl.

described as an "interim report" on the mission of Ambassador James P. Richards to explain to Middle East governments the Eisenhower program.

Richards was due today in Khartoum, capital of the Sudan. It remained uncertain whether he will visit Egypt and Syria.

The report to Congress did not cover Richards' recent talks in Fritrea but did cover the results of his visits to Lebanon, Libya, Saudi Arabia, Afghanistan and four Baghdad powers — Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Iraq.

"The results of the mission to date are impressive," said a State Department statement. "The government covered by the interim report have declared their desire to associate themselves with the President's program for the Middle East."

Russian Bear Grows Out New Warning

MOSCOW — Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev cautioned the West Friday night to keep hands off the Communist world, declaring "we are not saints and if necessary we will rap your knuckles."

Khrushchev gave that warning at a Polish embassy reception. He spoke after Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov said the Moscow-directed Warsaw Pact powers would match any nuclear weapons or guided missiles America provided for its NATO allies.

"We want to warn the capitalist countries, do not joke with us," Khrushchev said. "Do not try to test us like you did in Hungary with the putsch. You think of doing it, not only in Hungary, but also maybe in East Germany. Be careful. We are not saints and, if necessary, we will rap your knuckles."

The reception honored Polish Premier Joseph Cyrankiewicz, who stopped off in the Soviet capital en route home from a tour of the Orient.

Zhukov declared Russia would carry out all measures necessary to counteract any action that NATO takes.

"We have at our disposal adequate means to retaliate against any action of NATO," he said.

Sewer Meeting Results Nil

North End Easement Problem Unsolved

A meeting held yesterday to find ways to settle a property easement on the north end sewer project failed to bring final results according to Kenneth Robbins, city solicitor.

Robbins, Councilman Richard Penn and Service Director Dewey Speakman, along with a representative from the Burgess and Niple engineering firm, represented the city in a meeting with Robert Elisea, a north end landowner, in an effort to work out details of a sewer right-of-way across Elisea's property.

So far the city and Elisea have failed to agree on terms which will allow the sewer line to cross the property.

City council has filed an application to assess compensation in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. A resolution passed in Council in February calls for the appropriation of a right-of-way 60 feet wide and 1976.4 feet long over Elisea's land.

BECAUSE the two parties involved have failed to reach an agreement on the issue, Council has requested that a common pleas jury make an inquiry to determine the amount of money which will be paid for the easement rights. The hearing is scheduled May 9.

It was incorrectly reported to the Herald Wednesday that Elisea had filed a suit in common pleas court asking for damages. The only court action so far has been the application to assess compensation, filed by the city.

AND THEN...IT'S EASTER!

Yesterday, these four were their Mothers' despair. Their faces were grimy, their playclothes spattered with mud. They were even ready to put up their fists and fight when the rivalry between spacemen and cowboys became a little too keen.

Today, they are immaculate. They sing like young angels. They even look like angels... because today is Easter! And these boys are proclaiming the glorious message that Christ Is Risen.

Easter is the time of promise, beauty, awe at the miracle of birth and rebirth. Easter is the time to let the joy of living seep into you. It is the time to tell yourself that you believe... and, if there's been any doubt about it, to start believing again.

Spend part of your Easter in Church. Spend the rest of it looking, with new eyes, at the wonderland God has created around you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

AND THEN...IT'S EASTER!

Yesterday, these four were their Mothers' despair. Their faces were grimy, their playclothes spattered with mud. They were even ready to put up their fists and fight when the rivalry between spacemen and cowboys became a little too keen.

Today, they are immaculate. They sing like young angels. They even look like angels... because today is Easter! And these boys are proclaiming the glorious message that Christ Is Risen.

Easter is the time of promise, beauty, awe at the miracle of birth and rebirth. Easter is the time to let the joy of living seep into you. It is the time to tell yourself that you believe... and, if there's been any doubt about it, to start believing again.

Spend part of your Easter in Church. Spend the rest of it looking, with new eyes, at the wonderland God has created around you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Soil Bank Criticism Increases

Criticism of the soil bank in farming areas has led congressional investigators to look into two principal charges.

One is that speculators are buying farm land, putting it into the soil bank and paying for it with government rentals. The other is that owners commit their poorest acres to the bank. They use the rentals for irrigation, fertilizer and other crop-boosting methods on their more fertile acres.

The city land buyers have no intention of settling on a farm. They increase absentee ownership and aggravate poor land management. Using soil bank money to increase production on uncommitted acres defeats the purpose of the bank. That is to curtail production sharply until the surplus problem is solved.

Secretary Benson and the administration have placed major reliance on the soil

States Want Money, Minus Taxes

President Eisenhower's proposal that the states put up at least 25 per cent of the cost of subsidy programs for farmers and ranchers in drought areas has not been greeted with hallelujahs on the plains.

For the states to provide matching money for drought aid would require levying new taxes in most cases. And any additional tax would fall heavily on the farmers, ranchers and businessmen in the drought-stricken areas.

Is the current drought big enough to rank as a national disaster? Presumably

Canada Puts Out Welcome Mat

Over a century ago the United States began to round out the manpower needed to develop its resources by a policy of almost unrestricted immigration. Europeans, fed up with political, economic and religious restrictions and with unrewarding revolutions, responded by millions.

Now Canada, seeing a similar situation in Europe which invites the departure of many, has decided to do more than merely open the gates. Canada actually is subsidizing immigration.

Canada will have an immigration this year of 200,000. Of these, more than 25,000 will be airlifted across the Atlantic in 350 chartered airplane flights. Most of those ferried across will be Britons and French.

Pay Taxes Now, Eat Later

By George Sokolsky

Every citizen has ideas about what the taxes should be and how to collect them. Nobody really enjoys paying any taxes at all, but most admit that the government needs to meet its bills, and therefore must tax the citizens somewhat. When the "somewhat" gets too tough, the citizens write letters to columnists and Congressmen.

What most citizens do not know is that some departments of the government pad their payrolls, expecting Congress to squeeze the padding out. Also that if a department discovers that it has more money on hand than it can spend, ways and means have to be invented to make the money disappear; otherwise it has to be returned to the Treasury and that fouls things up for an enlarged and padded budget the next year.

Also there is an item called "unexpended surpluses," namely, that some departments are able to hide away the amounts that they cannot use in a given year and they hold on to these sums, lawfully or otherwise, so that they can be used as needed.

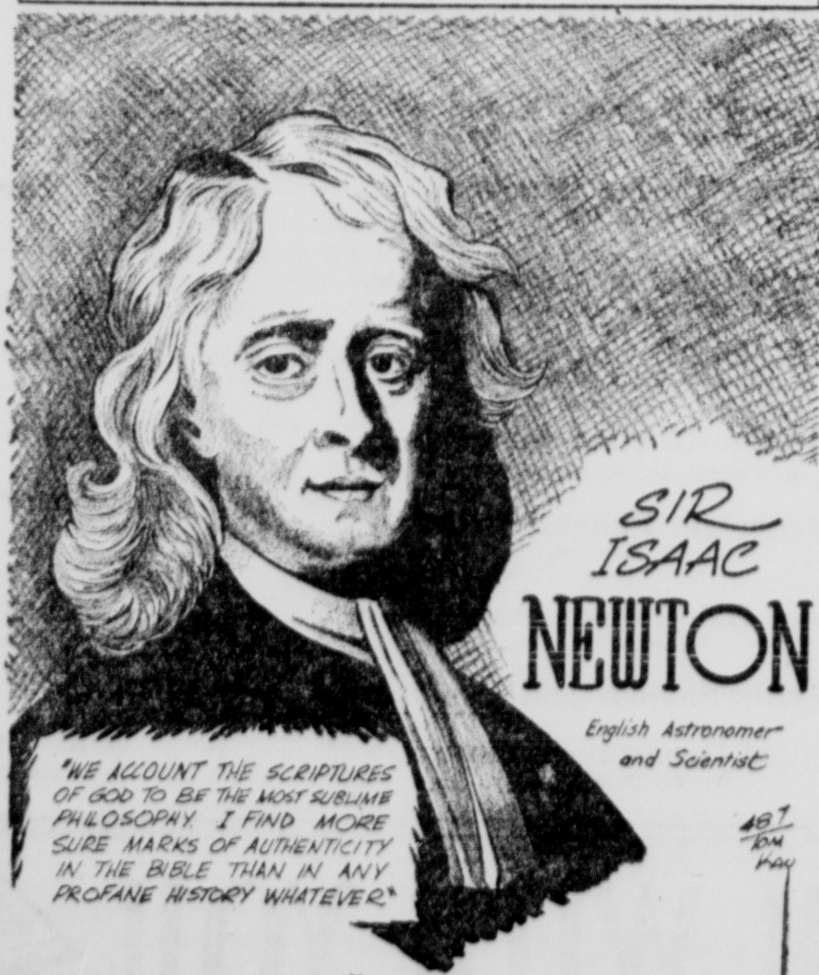

Finally, there are the items which run for more than a fiscal year—say, such an item as building a new-type plane which may run from conception to obsolescence over a couple of years. The trouble here is that when such an item becomes obsolete, even on the drawing board, it is not altogether discarded if the appropriations have been authorized, lest some Congressional committee ask what goes on.

So all this costs money and the taxpayer is required to turn over his earnings to the tax collectors and hopes that he can carry himself along on installment buying until his credit is exhausted, if ever. Now along comes a Yankee from Rockland, Maine, who wants no personal advertising, but he makes a proposition:

"For my money Mr. Sokolsky, all taxation should be based on a person's ability to pay it, and I would think that it would be a

Poor Sitting Posture Can Cause Physical Exhaustion

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

When you're tired, you usually sit down to rest.

However, you can get tired just by sitting, too.

If those of you who work in an office, or at any kind of a desk job all day long, feel fatigued and dragged out after work it may be because you sit incorrectly.

Good posture while sitting is just as important as proper posture while standing or walking.

Let me give you a little advice on how to sit properly. It may help keep you from tiring so easily.

When working, make sure you have a firm chair. Height of the seat should be the same as the length of your leg from the back of the knee to the bottom of the heel.

Don't sit on the end of your spine. Instead, sit on the back of your thighs.

Sit tall. Hold your head and trunk erect. Your body should be centered over your pelvis or tilted forward slightly.

Your knees should be flexed and at right angles.

As I have told you before, proper posture will become a habit—a good habit—if you practice it long enough. On the other hand, poor posture also can become a habit, a habit that is difficult to break.

No matter what kind of work you do, you can do it more efficiently and more easily if you maintain proper posture while either sitting or standing. At the same time, your body can work more efficiently and more easily.

If you don't sit or stand properly, your blood circulation is apt to slow down, your breathing will become shallow and your lungs won't get the proper exercise.

Eventually you'll become tired. And when you're tired you just can't do your best work.

So, straighten up and sit right.

MARCH OF EVENTS

President's Summer Plans Include Wisconsin Visit | Return to Colorado Now Ruled Out by Physicians

Special to Central Press Association

WASHINGTON—Despite his open disaffection for Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R), Wisconsin, President Eisenhower is reported to be planning to spend some time this summer in Joe's home state.

White House sources say Mr. Eisenhower's vacation schedule will include a visit to Wisconsin's lake region, which is noted for its fishing. Next to golf, fishing is Ike's favorite sport.

A return to mile-high Colorado, previously the number one playground, apparently has been ruled out by the President's doctor. He suffered his 1955 heart attack in Denver after strenuous activity in Colorado's rarefied air.

Besides the Wisconsin interlude, the chief executive is said to be planning a trip to New Hampshire, which is the home state of his top aide, Sherman Adams, and which also abounds in streams and lakes.

Mr. Eisenhower's summer holiday is due to begin soon after Congress adjourns. The target for adjournment is July 15.

MAIL CRISIS—Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield didn't plan it that way, but his threatened curtailment of services because of lack of funds could result in realization of his big project—a mail service that pays its own way.

There were those who suspected Summerfield was making a grandstand pitch for his project when he told a House committee he would have to cut out Saturday mail deliveries and curtail other services if Congress did not vote the department $47 million in extra funds to operate the department through June 30.

However, even rank and file postal workers said this was not so, that Summerfield was really in a tight spot and had no alternative but to cut services to get by on lesser appropriations.

Thus, Congress was thrust into the villain's role as being directly responsible for reduced mail service and the inevitable resulting loss of jobs.

Such a situation could change the thinking of many congressmen who remain opposed to increased appropriations in the midst of the budget-cutting drive, and they might become agreeable to increasing postal rates to make up the deficit operation.

AMBASSADOR'S DEATH—When the frail, anguished Canadian ambassador to Egypt plummeted to his death in Cairo, its echo was heard with frightening clarity in Ottawa and Washington.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian minister of external affairs, attributed E. Herbert Norman's suicide directly to "overwork, overstrain and the feeling of renewed persecution on a sensitive mind and not very robust body."

In Washington, the Senate internal security subcommittee defended its publication of Communist allegations against Norman—accusations the Canadian government said were disposed of "years ago" after careful investigation.

One member of the Canadian house of commons said the subcommittee's statements—immune from legal challenge as are all congressional reports—led directly to Norman's death.

Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker charged: "This is but further evidence that trial by suspicion and conviction by innuendo have terrible results in the lives of those subjected to them."

Long-time critics of the methods of congressional investigators felt that, after years of seemingly futile verbal warnings, a life-and-blood demonstration had finally and tragically been forced upon the conscience of the lawmakers and the nation.

They hoped it might help change some of the investigators' methods.

Using soil bank money to increase production on uncommitted acres defeats the purpose of the bank. That is to curtail production sharply until the surplus problem is solved.

Secretary Benson and the administration have placed major reliance on the soil bank program. They still hope it will remove surpluses and permit the eventual retirement of the federal government from most agricultural aid programs.

But with soil bank criticism mounting, Congress may not permit that program to run its course. Farm state Republican members say Benson is their biggest reelection hazard. If that is true, they may join Democrats this session or next to upset Benson's policies and inaugurate others with no thought of terminating federal farm programs.

Agriculture's release from government management is probably remote.

War talk, which reached a new peak several weeks ago, has subsided somewhat again. But not sufficiently to revive talk of reduction in taxes.

States Want Money, Minus Taxes

President Eisenhower's proposal that the states put up at least 25 per cent of the cost of subsidy programs for farmers and ranchers in drought areas has not been greeted with hallelujahs on the plains.

For the states to provide matching money for drought aid would require levying new taxes in most cases. And any additional tax would fall heavily on the farmers, ranchers and businessmen in the drought-stricken areas.

Is the current drought big enough to rank as a national disaster? Presumably that question has been answered in the affirmative many times, including the opinions expressed by President Eisenhower after his Great Plains trip last January.

But this should be said. President Eisenhower can hardly be blamed for his idea of state participation after listening to some of the brave words he heard on his drought area tour.

Time and again he heard speakers talking about "local action" and "we want to solve this thing by ourselves" and "we don't want federal interference."

Canada Puts Out Welcome Mat

Over a century ago the United States began to round out the manpower needed to develop its resources by a policy of almost unrestricted immigration. Europeans, fed up with political, economic and religious restrictions and with unrewarding revolutions, responded by millions.

Now Canada, seeing a similar situation in Europe which invites the departure of many, has decided to do more than merely open the gates. Canada actually is subsidizing immigration.

The fare is $200 per person, which the government will lend passengers without interest and with two years to repay.

Canadian immigration offices in London are swamped with applicants desiring to start a new life. Canada has resources that need development. The immigration program fits neatly into the needs of that nation, as similar programs would benefit most of the Latin American countries, much of Africa and Australia.

The song, "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?" is heard no more, which may be additional proof that there are nightmares abroad.

Pay Taxes Now, Eat Later

By George Sokolsky

Every citizen has ideas about what the taxes should be and how to collect them. Nobody really enjoys paying any taxes at all, but most admit that the government needs to meet its bills, and therefore must tax the citizens somewhat. When the "somewhat" gets too tough, the citizens write letters to congressmen and Congressmen.

What most citizens do not know is that some departments of the government pad their payrolls, expecting Congress to squeeze the padding out. So all this costs money and the taxpayer is required to turn over his earnings to the tax collectors and hopes that he can carry himself along on installment buying until his credit is exhausted, if ever. Now along comes a Yankee from Rockland, Maine, who wants no personal advertising, but he makes a proposition:

"For my money Mr. Sokolsky, all taxation should be based on a person's ability to pay it, and I would think that it would be a very good idea if the city, state, and federal governments, would get together and base their taxation programs on that and then they would have some idea of how much you can take out of a person for taxes, something that only the federal government knows, at this time, as we all have to eat first and pay taxes after, and to that I think that you will agree."

In the first place, how is ability to pay to be measured? At present, it is measured by earnings and we suffer a graduated income tax based on earnings but including a number of exceptions and exemptions. Therefore this gentleman's proposition offers nothing novel because that is the way it is now done.

All earnings are reported at least twice, once by the payer and another time by the recipient and to prevent the citizen from spending his earnings as he goes along, Congress has instituted the withholding tax which is a trick whereby one's wages are cut in advance and the tax money taken out. This entails considerable and costly bookkeeping for which the government does not pay.

The psychological effect of the withholding tax is that many who pay taxes do not automatically realize how much they pay. They regard as their wages the net amount that they take home.

My correspondent wants "to eat first and pay taxes after," which is a proposition that the government does not regard as valid. Actually, taxes come first and foremost under the law, and if the citizen cannot eat as he desires because he must pay taxes, that is his problem. A man may have to choose between caviar and a hamburger, but he has no choice as to taxes, which he must pay, come what may.

Also the cost of eating is not deductible except for those who have expense accounts and can sign their names to chits or tabs or whatever the summations are called in the very swellest restaurants. Only such folks are able to eat leisurely and as much as their gall-bladders will tolerate. A deductible item is a great joy, if you can get it, and an expense account is the best way to live high on the hog prior to taxes.

This, however, everyone should know: Taxes are a first lien on one's earnings; they come even before breakfast.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian minister of external affairs, attributed E. Herbert Norman's suicide directly to "overwork, overstrain and the feeling of renewed persecution on a sensitive mind and not very robust body."

In Washington, the Senate internal security subcommittee defended its publication of Communist allegations against Norman—accusations the Canadian government said were disposed of "years ago" after careful investigation.

One member of the Canadian house of commons said the subcommittee's statements—immune from legal challenge as are all congressional reports—led directly to Norman's death.

Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker charged: "This is but further evidence that trial by suspicion and conviction by innuendo have terrible results in the lives of those subjected to them."

Long-time critics of the methods of congressional investigators felt that, after years of seemingly futile verbal warnings, a life-and-blood demonstration had finally and tragically been forced upon the conscience of the lawmakers and the nation.

They hoped it might help change some of the investigators' methods.

With doubled-up mail deliveries because of the Saturday postoffice shutdown, Monday, for the postman, must have been the bluest one on record.

Perhaps another reason spring poets skip mention of the dandelion is that it's virtually impossible to find anything to rhyme with it.

Spanish moss is a relative of the pineapple—Factographs. A mighty distant one, we'd say.

That Arend-Roland comet which we thought we'd be watching about now won't be generally visible until later. In view of the kind of "spring" weather most of the U. S. has been having, we'd delay our arrival, too.

A five-acre lake has suddenly popped up on an Ohio farm. There's one farmer who shouldn't have any drought problems this year.

Add late scratches: The Army has cancelled that trip for congressmen to Fort Knox at Kentucky Derby time.

A Texas thief stole 22 Bibles from a book salesman. If the crook would only read one of 'em he'd probably bring the other 21 back.

The new committee is headed by Hugo Young of Loudonville.

Medical Aid Has Many Beauty Uses

Multi-purpose products often go unnoticed until you are off on a trip. With suitcase space at a premium a gal is apt to choose carefully, take along only what is essential. That is when you discover the value of a beauty aid that has more than one use.

One such aid to consider is petroleum jelly. A jar of same can usually be found in most medicine cabinets. It is a staple. Maybe you use it for treating burns or for skin irritations, abrasions or minor cuts. Perhaps you have overlooked its beauty uses.

Well it has them, too, and several of them.

Petroleum jelly is the thing for eyelashes. Are yours scant? Then get into the habit of applying p.j. to them each night. Rub it on and brush lashes upward. You train them to tilt and the jelly helps them grow more luxuriant.

The product also has other uses. You can apply it to eyelids in lieu of shadow. It gives the skin a lustrous look that is most flattering to eyes.

When it comes to removing waterproof mascara, the p.j. scores again. Rub it over lashes, then clean the petroleum jelly and mascara away with a tissue.

Troubled by rough elbows? Petroleum jelly is a wonderful lubricant. Apply it to elbows and to hands, face, knees and feet as well.

That is an impressive number of uses and here is another one. The jelly (just a tiny amount of it) can

Birdie's Chirp Has Burdette All Riled Up

Being Called 'Cheat' In Spitball Dispute Brings Hot Reply

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lew Burdette really has his dander up against Birdie Tebbetts in the latest development of their spitball feud that has reached the desk of Warren Giles, National League president.

"I'm no spitballer and I'm no cheat," said the Milwaukee Braves righthander in retorting Friday to the charge made by the manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs Thursday after Burdette had shutout the Redlegs 1-0.

"I don't like the idea of a guy calling me a cheat," said Burdette who up to now has laughed off Tebbetts' assertions that Burdette throws the illegal spitter 25 per cent of the time.

"That's carrying a thing too far. He's stirring up a big stink that isn't going to do him or me any good. I don't mind him squawking about it, but if he's going to stir up a lot of trouble, I think he's going a little too far."

"I don't want a little thing between Birdie and me spreading out so far as the commissioner's office or the league president. That's a lot of hoovey."

"Baseball is bigger than Birdie and I."

The dispute centers on Burdette's habit of reaching to his mouth before he pitches.

Burdette said "the rule (8.02) doesn't say you can't go to your mouth. It says you aren't allowed to apply a foreign substance of any kind to the ball or rub it on your uniform. Well, I don't do any of those things."

"The rule," Tebbetts said, "does not say anything about rubbing your fingers off after wetting them. I want a clarification of that rule, so we'll know what you can do and what you can't."

Two years ago, Burdette said, when Johnny Cooney was a coach of the Braves, Cooney "checked the other pitchers and counted the times they went to their mouths."

"He found out that quite a few did and were quite obvious about it," Burdette said. When pressed to name some of them that do, Burdette mentioned Art Fowler of the Redlegs, Sal Maglie of the Dodgers and Johnny Antonelli of the Giants.

Ted Kluszewski, like some of his Cincinnati teammates, is less aroused about the spitball controversy than Tebbetts.

"There's no way to stop a pitcher from throwing a spitball," the big first-sacker said. "He doesn't have to employ spit."

"He can get the same results with perspiration. And he can get that from a half a dozen or more places without violating the rules."

The Reds resume the series with Milwaukee here today after the Good Friday holiday.

Johnny Podres, Don Larsen, Early Wynn and Brooks Lawrence—four pitchers with something to prove—were scheduled to take their first stabs at it today.

Podres, the lefthander who was nothing much until he nailed Brooklyn's first world championship by twice beating the New York Yankees in the 1955 World Series, went against Pittsburgh in the first start of his "comeback" from the Navy.

Larsen, going against the Red Sox at Boston, hasn't pitched for keeps since he wrapped up the first perfect game in World Series history last October.

Wynn, a member of Cleveland's prime pitching staff, worked against the Detroit Tigers armed with a 20-victory record in 1956, but challenged by an ailing hip. Lawrence, conqueror of an ul-

Beechman Scores Upset Over Mims

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Young Jimmy Beecham of Miami moved into line for a shot at the country's leading welterweights after scoring a 10-round upset decision over the veteran Holly Mims of Washington, D. C.

Victory in Friday night's nationally televised fight from the Miami Beach Auditorium was especially satisfying to the 22-year-old Beecham.

First, it averaged a close defeat by Mims in a previous fight Nov. 13. Second, it convinced Beecham that he could campaign successfully among the top welterweights.

Dow, 2 Others, Dropped By Firm

CINCINNATI (AP)—Golf professionals Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald and Jimmy Demaret have been dropped from the advisory staff of MacGregor Golf, Inc.

That's the report Friday by the firm's president, Henry Cowen, who said the action was because the three used golf balls made by a competitor in the recent Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga. Ford won the tourney.

Top Hat Bowling Team Named Champions Of Monday League

Top Hat bowlers were crowned champions of the Early Monday Night Bowling League held this season at the local Circle D Recreation Alleys.

A championship trophy was presented to Vora P. Butler, owner of the Top Hat restaurant, for his team's league winning performance. The team compiled a record of 63½ wins against 24½ losses.

The Top Hat squad also earned other honors, winning a trophy for its three-game high team performance plus another trophy for rolling a high team game. The champs collected 2,886 pins in the three game series and 1,041 in the single team game.

Each member of the team received individual trophies. Members are Art McGran, David Olney, Marion Good, Robert Moon, Manley Smith and Mike Brown.

McGRAN also was presented a trophy for recording a 182 average, high for the league.

Floyd Happeney, a member of the Butch's Jewelers team, was awarded a trophy for high individual three game series, registering a 653 score.

Frank Susa, bowling for The Circleville Herald, received a trophy for high individual game, posting a 279 mark.

Other teams in the league, listed in the order of their standings, are: Butch's Jewelers, Moores Store, Glitt's Restaurant, Mecca Restaurant and the Circleville Herald.

Birdie's Chirp Has Burdette All Riled Up

Being Called 'Cheat' In Spitball Dispute Brings Hot Reply

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lew Burdette really has his dander up against Birdie Tebbetts in the latest development of their spitball feud that has reached the desk of Warren Giles, National League president.

"I'm no spitballer and I'm no cheat," said the Milwaukee Braves righthander in retorting Friday to the charge made by the manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs Thursday after Burdette had shutout the Redlegs 1-0.

"I don't like the idea of a guy calling me a cheat," said Burdette who up to now has laughed off Tebbetts' assertions that Burdette throws the illegal spitter 25 per cent of the time.

"That's carrying a thing too far. He's stirring up a big stink that isn't going to do him or me any good. I don't mind him squawking about it, but if he's going to stir up a lot of trouble, I think he's going a little too far."

"I don't want just a little thing between Birdie and me spreading out so far as the commissioner's office or the league president. That's a lot of hokey."

"Baseball is bigger than Birdie and I."

The dispute centers on Burdette's habit of reaching to his mouth before he pitches.

Burdette said "the rule (8.02) doesn't say you can't go to your mouth. It says you aren't allowed to apply a foreign substance of any kind to the ball or rub it on your uniform. Well, I don't do any of those things."

"The rule," Tebbetts said, "does not say anything about rubbing your fingers off after wetting them. I want a clarification of that rule, so we'll know what you can do and what you can't."

Two years ago, Burdette said, when Johnny Cooney was a coach of the Braves, Cooney "checked the other pitchers and counted the times they went to their mouths."

"He found out that quite a few did and were quite obvious about it," Burdette said. When pressed to name some of them that do, Burdette mentioned Art Fowler of the Redlegs, Sal Maglie of the Dodgers and Johnny Antonelli of the Giants.

Ted Kluszewski, like some of his Cincinnati teammates, is less aroused about the spitball controversy than Tebbetts.

"There's no way to stop a pitcher from throwing a spitball," the big first-sacker said. "He doesn't have to employ spit."

"He can get the same results with perspiration. And he can get that from a half a dozen or more places without violating the rules."

The Reds resume the series with Milwaukee here today after the Good Friday holiday.

Johnny Podres, Don Larsen, Early Wynn and Brooks Lawrence—four pitchers with something to prove—were scheduled to take their first stabs at it today.

Podres, the left-hander who was nothing much until he nailed Brooklyn's first world championship by twice beating the New York Yankees in the 1955 World Series, went against Pittsburgh in the first start of his "comeback" from the Navy.

Larsen, going against the Red Sox at Boston, hasn't pitched for keeps since he wrapped up the first perfect game in World Series history last October.

Wynn, a member of Cleveland's prime pitching staff, worked against the Detroit Tigers armed with a 20-victory record in 1956, but challenged by an ailing hip.

Lawrence, conqueror of an ul-

Beechman Scores Upset Over Mims

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Young Jimmy Beechman of Miami moved into line for a shot at the country's leading welterweights after scoring a 10-round upset decision over the veteran Holly Mims of Washington, D. C.

Victory in Friday night's nationally televised fight from the Miami Beach Auditorium was especially satisfying to the 22-year-old Beechman.

First, it avenged a close defeat by Mims in a previous fight Nov. 13. Second, it convinced Beechman that he could campaign successfully among the top welterweights.

Cleric Says Many Persons 'Evading Fact Death Exists'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "One of the reasons why more Americans than ever before are in hospitals because of mental and nervous breakdowns is that for a generation or more we have been evading the fact that death exists."

So says Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, a Presbyterian and president of the National Council of Churches.

The Rev. Dr. Blake, in a special message for Easter, says that "psychologists have warned us that the typical isolation and shielding of children from the grim reality of death has made them unprepared for life as it is."

His message continues:

"In our language we substitute 'he passed away' for 'he died' and are foolishly surprised when children, not allowed to know that there is such a thing as a corpse, torture themselves with the fear that a dead parent left them because he didn't love them. A people that has been brought up not to know about death will inevitably develop as many and severe frustrations as one brought up ignorant of sex."

"All sorts of hallucinations and phobias can be traced to our unwillingness to face the fact of death. Part of our preoccupation with sex, not a little or our materialism, a great deal of our political anxiety, much of our restlessness, and most of our romantic sentimentality rises out of our adolescent foolishness of supposing that we will live forever."

"When the fact of death is squarely faced men have come up with a number of different answers more or less satisfying and all better than pretending death isn't real and sharp. The ancient Greeks came to believe that the soul was immortal and that though death was sad and dark, the soul would live on."

"The typical Oriental answer has been to hold that life and flesh are essentially evil and that death is the door to blissful non-existence. Soldiers who had no other faith found that a Moslem-like belief in fact (I won't go until my number is up) was a way to keep sane when men were dying all about them."

"None of these answers is as satisfying as the Christian answer of which we ought to be reminded by each Easter celebration."

"Christians believe that God is a living God; that He created men body and soul, spirit and flesh; that this life is but the beginning of an eternity which will be for every man a heaven or a hell; that Jesus Christ who died the worst kind of death (premature and cruel) was raised from death to new life with God; that by the same power which raised Jesus, God will raise us up in newness of life to be forever with Him."

"This is the meaning of Easter and the reason for Christian joy and peace."

Kill Insects, Earthworms To Rid Lawn Of Mole Nuisance

BY GEORGE HAMRICK
(County Agricultural Agent)

Several requests have been made in recent days for some method of mole control in lawns.

Moles destroy few plants or bulbs by direct feeding. The main damage is done when plant roots are dislodged as the animals work through the soil in search of earthworms and insects, which form the bulk of their diet. Plant seeds, roots, and bulbs in mole runs are usually destroyed by mice or other rodents that use the mole's passages.

There are several methods in use to control moles. One quite common is trapping. The best times to trap are in early spring when the first ridges are noted, or after the first fall rains. Trapping is difficult in summer or winter. At these seasons mole activity is too deep in the ground to control by trapping.

Since all the runways may not be in use, find the active ones by rolling and leveling the ridges or by stepping down on several ridges to see which ones the moles will raise. Assume these to be the main runways and the unraised ones to be the temporary feeding lanes. Do not leave a trap set in a spot more than one day if it fails to make a catch. Re-set it in another runway.

EARTHWORMS ARE beneficial in maintaining good texture and porosity of the soil. However, soils containing many earthworms and insects will attract moles. The removal or reduction of this food for moles may be desirable in some locations. This can be accomplished with one of our recommended soil insecticides by treating the entire lawn area, or a barrier strip about 20 to 40 feet wide at the outer perimeter of the lawn.

Chlordane has been successfully used in mole control. This material can be purchased as a 40 or 50 per cent wettable powder, as a 45 per cent emulsion concentrate or as a 5 per cent dust. It should be used at the rate of one-fourth pound of the actual toxicant per 1,000 square feet of lawn surface.

In order to obtain this amount, use one-half pound of 50 per cent wettable powder, or one-half pint of 45 per cent emulsion concentrate, or 5 pounds of 5 per cent dust per each 1,000 square feet. The wettable powder and emulsion concentrate should be mixed with enough water to spray the lawn area.

If 5 per cent chlordane dust is used, it is best applied by mixing it with sand or fertilizer and spreading it with a fertilizer distributor. An ordinary garden duster will also do a fair job of distributing the dust. Apply before a rainstorm or otherwise soak it into the soil by sprinkling. Chlordane gives quick results and will remain effective for about two years.

DDT may be applied in the same manner as chlordane. Apply six pounds of 10 per cent DDT dust or one and one-half pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT per 1,000 square feet. DDT is slower, but has a strong residual effect for several years.

Lead arsenate may be used at the rate of 5 to 10 pounds per 1,000 square feet. It can be sprayed on or applied dry, following the same procedure suggested for chlordane. Soak arsenate into the soil also. Although comparatively more expensive than chlordane or DDT, lead arsenate will give a quicker kill, with residual action lasting from three to five years.

Moles are difficult to control by poisonous baits. Almost any noxious material inserted in runways will repel moles, but will cause them to make new runs a short distance away.

The bulletin "Your Lawn" offers more valuable advice to problems of lawn management. This bulletin may be secured by contacting the Agriculture Extension Service, in the basement of the Post Office.

Tito Sees Soviet Ties Improving

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito predicts that Yugoslav-Soviet relations will improve in the near future.

The existing Soviet - Yugoslav controversy in ideological matters, he said, unfortunately affected interstate relations between the two Communist countries. Relations have reached their lowest level since Yugoslavia's break with the Cominform in 1948, he added.

Tito assured Kremlin leaders Yugoslavia is not out to wreck the Communist bloc as he said they implied. This country, he went on, does not subscribe to a concept of bloc policy.

Your Election Laws ...

By Ted W. Brown
Secretary of State of Ohio

Each year brings new voters to Ohio's polls. It has been estimated that approximately 100,000 will become 21 years of age in 1957. Our voting roster is also increased by those people who move into Ohio from other states and have attained the year's residence requirement by the date of the election, or having lived in Ohio for a year, have just received their final citizenship papers.

Our Constitution requires that voters be citizens of the United States, and be at least 21 years of age; and the statutes require that a voter be a resident of the county and precinct for 40 days in order to be eligible to vote at the primary election. The law permits a person who will be 21 years of age before the day of the next general election to vote at the primary election. If you reside in territory which has registration, you must have registered prior to March 27.

When you present yourself at the polling place to vote, you shall announce your full name and address to the official and the name of the political party whose ballot you desire to vote. In non-registration precincts you shall state the county, township and precinct in which your residence is located upon request of the presiding judge. In registration precincts the official checks to see if your registration card is on file.

After this information is given to the precinct officials, you then will write your name and address at the proper place in the poll list, except that if you are unable to write your name and address you may make your mark the place intended for your name and address and present a proper identification. The precinct official will attest to your mark and sign his name as a witness to it.

In registration precincts your signature in the poll list is compared with your signature on your registration card, and if, in the opinion of a majority of the precinct officials, the signatures are the same, the clerk shall enter the date of the election on the registration card.

IF PAPER BALLOTS are used in your precinct, the judge in charge of the ballots will give you the proper ballots, and you will retire to one of the voting compartments and mark your ballot. If voting machines are used in your precinct, you will be given an "authority to vote" card which you must present to the official in charge of the machine.

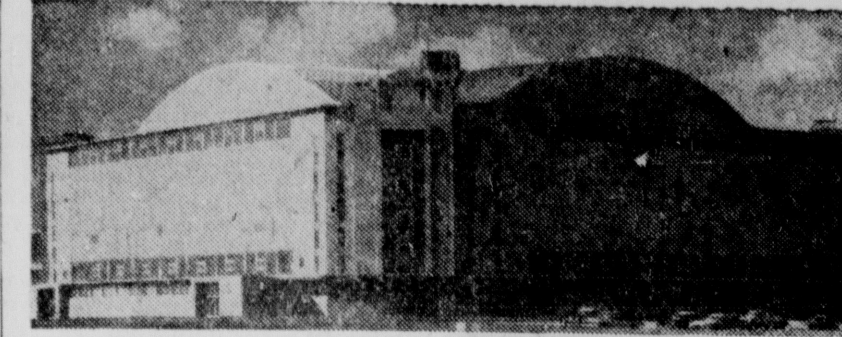

Illustrated instructions on operating voting machines are posted in each polling place where machines are used. Study these instructions carefully before you enter the voting enclosure so that you can vote quickly so that others may not have to wait in line.

Clara Bow, Gloria Swanson Extroverts Of The Old Days

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — And then there was the irrepressible, uninhibited Clara Bow. She epitomized an era in Hollywood. Clara, who trained on hard liquor and late hours, was a pulsing example of what Elinor Glyn meant when she describes sex appeal as "it."

No account of life in these parts would be complete without a paragraph or two about Clara. One of Clara's troubles was that she never realized she was a movie star and had certain obligations as such. She did exactly as she wanted to do. Like the time she telephoned a fraternity house to say she wanted to meet some of the football players she'd seen that afternoon.

The pledge who answered the phone said, "Sure, Clara, I'm Napoleon." But it wasn't a gag. She said she'd be by in a few minutes and would sound her klaxon. She did, and the team streamed out to meet Clara.

Coach, president and parents complained to Paramount about its star's actions. Adolph Zukor, who was running the studio, gave Clara some fatherly advice about how $5,000-a-week people ought to act, but it didn't change Clara one whit.

As I keep implying, things were done with a greater flourish in the good old days before high taxes, business managers and psychiatric couches. There was a lot of unrestrained joy and whoop-te-do, often over little or nothing.

The story is almost legend that when Gloria Swanson married the Marquis Henri de la Falaise de la Coudraye, she sent a telegram, but not the usual "Arriving Tuesday Super Chief." She added a sentence: "Arrange ovation."

So Paramount hired bands, built a grandstand, summoned the fans, hung banners of welcome, bought a new red carpet, hired girls to strew petals. There were welcoming speeches and Gloria and Hank, as he became known, were given the keys to everything in town except the First National's vault.

Chamber Urging More Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John S. Coleman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce says President Eisenhower's proposal for cutting the federal budget "does not go far enough."

Coleman referred to Eisenhower's letter Thursday to House Speaker Rayburn, which said fiscal 1958 appropriations could be cut by $1.8 billion.

"A continuation of the searching self-analysis which has been conducted by the President and by his administrative leaders can produce even greater yields," Coleman said. "It should not stop with this first set of recommendations."

Lima Mother Kills Baby, Tries Suicide

LIMA (AP)—Mrs. Doris J. Miner, 29, was in "fair" condition at a hospital here today after strangling her 8-month-old daughter and then attempting to kill herself by drinking ammonia.

Mrs. Miner's husband, Jessie, 56, told Allen County Sheriff Clay T. Coatsman he came home from work to the trailer where the family lived Friday to find the baby, Jean Ann, dead in her crib and his wife sitting nearby. He said Mrs. Miner killed two pet parakeets two months ago.

Miner told the sheriff his wife drank the ammonia when he ran to a neighbor's to call police.

Basic Chemical Of Life Produced In Test Tube

CHICAGO (AP) — Science has produced in a test tube a basic chemical of life that may help in the fight against cancer.

The chemical is an acid, desoxyribonucleic or DNA for short. The acid produced in the test tube appears to be the same as that found in all living things. It holds the secrets of heredity such as color of eyes, height, race and other inherited characteristics.

DNA, a main component of chromosomes and genes, carriers of hereditary traits, was described Thursday to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by four Washington University of St. Louis doctors.

The scientists formed DNA from four nucleotides extracted from cells of bacteria and thymus gland tissue of calves mixed with an enzyme needed for making the gene substance. The enzyme was obtained from bacteria and highly purified.

Researchers now must determine whether the synthetic DNA can be used by living cells and what happens to them. It might work only in the bacteria which supplied the enzyme, or in calf thymus, or perhaps many forms of life systems.

Their findings may help in the search for chemicals which will block the manufacture of DNA in cancer cells. Such a blocking would stop their growth without harming normal cells.

Doctors who compounded the acid are Arthur Kornberg, Maurice J. Bessman, E. S. Simms and I. R. Lehman. It was analyzed by Dr. H. K. Schachman of the University of California at Berkeley who found it just like natural DNA in sedimentation characteristics.

Wilson reported there has been no decision yet as to when the resignation will take effect, but that Newbury had told him he wanted to leave.

Cleric Says Many Persons 'Evading Fact Death Exists'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"One of the reasons why more Americans than ever before are in hospitals because of mental and nervous breakdowns is that for a generation or more we have been evading the fact that death exists."

So says Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, a Presbyterian and president of the National Council of Churches.

The Rev. Dr. Blake, in a special message for Easter, says that "psychologists have warned us that the typical isolation and shielding of children from the grim reality of death has made them unprepared for life as it is."

His message continues: "In our language we substitute 'he passed away' for 'he died' and are foolishly surprised when children, not allowed to know that there is such a thing as a corpse, torture themselves with the fear that a dead parent left them because he didn't love them. A people that has been brought up not to know about death will inevitably develop as many and severe frustrations as one brought up ignorant of sex.

"All sorts of hallucinations and phobias can be traced to our unwillingness to face the fact of death. Part of our preoccupation with sex, not a little of our materialism, a great deal of our political anxiety, much of our restlessness, and most of our romantic sentimentality rises out of our adolescent foolishness of supposing that we will live forever.

"When the fact of death is squarely faced men have come up with a number of different answers more or less satisfying and all better than pretending death isn't real and sharp. The ancient Greeks came to believe that the soul was immortal and that though death was sad and dark, the soul would live on.

"The typical Oriental answer has been to hold that life and flesh are essentially evil and that death is the door to blissful non-existence. Soldiers who had no other faith found that a Moslem-like belief in fact (I won't go until my number is up) was a way to keep sane when men were dying all about them.

"None of these answers is as satisfying as the Christian answer of which we ought to be reminded by each Easter celebration.

"Christians believe that God is a living God; that He created men body and soul, spirit and flesh; that this life is but the beginning of an eternity which will be for every man a heaven or a hell; that Jesus Christ who died the worst kind of death (premature and cruel) was raised from death to new life with God; that by the same power which raised Jesus, God will raise us up in newness of life to be forever with Him.

"This is the meaning of Easter and the reason for Christian joy and peace."

Kill Insects, Earthworms To Rid Lawn Of Mole Nuisance

BY GEORGE HAMRICK
(County Agricultural Agent)

Several requests have been made in recent days for some method of mole control in lawns.

Moles destroy few plants or bulbs by direct feeding. The main damage is done when plant roots are dislodged as the animals work through the soil in search of earthworms and insects, which form the bulk of their diet. Plant seeds, roots, and bulbs in mole runs are usually destroyed by mice or other rodents that use the mole's passages.

There are several methods in use to control moles. One quite common is trapping. The best times to trap are in early spring when the first ridges are noted, or after the first fall rains. Trapping is difficult in summer or winter. At these seasons mole activity is too deep in the ground to control by trapping.

Since all the runways may not be in use, find the active ones by rolling and leveling the ridges or by stepping down on several ridges to see which ones the moles will raise. Assume these to be the main runways and the unraised ones to be the temporary feeding lanes. Do not leave a trap set in a spot more than one day if it fails to make a catch. Re-set it in another runway.

EARTHWORMS ARE beneficial in maintaining good texture and porosity of the soil. However, soils containing many earthworms and insects will attract moles. The removal or reduction of this food for moles may be desirable in some locations. This can be accomplished with one of our recommended soil insecticides by treating the entire lawn area, or a barrier strip about 20 to 40 feet wide at the outer perimeter of the lawn.

Chlordane has been successfully used in mole control. This material can be purchased as a 40 or 50 per cent wettable powder, as a 45 per cent emulsion concentrate or as a 5 per cent dust. It should be used at the rate of one-fourth pound of the actual toxicant per 1,000 square feet of lawn surface.

In order to obtain this amount, use one-half pound of 50 per cent wettable powder, or one-half pint of 45 per cent emulsion concentrate, or 5 pounds of 5 per cent dust per each 1,000 square feet. The wettable powder and emulsion concentrate should be mixed with enough water to spray the lawn area.

If 5 per cent chlordane dust is used, it is best applied by mixing it with sand or fertilizer and spreading it with a fertilizer distributor. An ordinary garden duster will also do a fair job of distributing the dust. Apply before a rainstorm or otherwise soak it into the soil by sprinkling. Chlordane gives quick results and will remain effective for about two years.

DDT may be applied in the same manner as chlordane. Apply six pounds of 10 per cent DDT dust or one and one-half pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT per 1,000 square feet. DDT is slower, but has a strong residual effect for several years.

Lead arsenate may be used at the rate of 5 to 10 pounds per 1,000 square feet. It can be sprayed on or applied dry, following the same procedure suggested for chlordane. Soak arsenate into the soil also. Although comparatively more expensive than chlordane or DDT, lead arsenate will give a quicker kill, with residual action lasting from three to five years.

Moles are difficult to control by poisonous baits. Almost any noxious material inserted in runways will repel moles, but will cause them to make new runs a short distance away.

The bulletin "Your Lawn" offers more valuable advice to problems of lawn management. This bulletin may be secured by contacting the Agriculture Extension Service, in the basement of the Post Office.
